

IVANA HUCÍKOVÁ

(Biography)

Ivana has just recently graduated from the Academy of Performing Arts in Bratislava in documentary directing. For her final school short film she chose to make a very intimate and gentle portrait of a family, which consists of only women - 4 generations of mothers and daughters, who are sharing not only one big house together, but some life similarities as well. Her student films were often about topics, which felt close to her and her peers, such as the hopes and dreams of young filmmakers vs. the reality of film and TV industry, or unemployment of young people in Slovakia and their need to search for job outside of their own country. She is experienced in experimental music video production as well as in film journalism. Ivana lives in Bratislava and has recently been working on finding themes for her debut film.
